
CODE OF CONDUCT
GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR DEALING WITH CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Ref: SEBI Circular dated August 27, 2013 (CIR/MIRSD/5/2013)

This Code of Conduct ('Code') lay down policies and internal procedures to identify and avoid or to deal or manage actual or potential conflict of interest, develop governing operations and formulate standards of appropriate conduct in the performance of activities and ensure proper dissemination of the same.

We must strive to cultivate a culture of honesty, sincerity and accountability. Our company's business activities including, but not limited to, relationship with employees, customers, competitors, the government and the public, including our shareholders must reflect our commitment towards attaining the highest level of ethical conduct.

All our employees, officers and directors must abide by the letter and spirit of this code.

In performing our task we will:

Compliance with Laws, Rules and Regulations

Recognize and engage our responsibility to uphold all laws and regulations governing the policies and activities of our profession/business.

Maintain an appropriate level of knowledge and competence and abide by the provisions of the SEBI Act, regulations made thereunder, circulars and guidelines, which may be applicable and relevant to the activities carried on by us.

Trading on inside information

Maintain confidentiality of Price Sensitive Information and handle it on a "need to know basis".

Subject all directors/officers and designated employees of the company to trading restrictions such as, specifying a trading period, to be called "trading window", for trading in the company's securities prior to declaration of corporate action. During closure of trading window, all employees, directors & designated employees is prohibited dealing in company securities.

Provide adequate freedom and powers to our compliance officer for the effective discharge of the compliance officer's duties, which shall include setting forth policies, procedures, monitoring adherence to the rules for the preservation of 'Price Sensitive Information', monitoring of trades and the implementation of the code of conduct under the overall supervision of the Board of the listed company.

Prevent the misuse of confidential information by adopting a "Chinese Wall" policy which separates those areas of the organization which routinely have access to confidential information, considered "inside areas" from those areas which deal with sale/marketing/investment advise or other departments providing support services, considered "public areas".

Protection of Confidential Information

Protect confidential proprietary information generated and gathered in our business, which is a valuable company asset. Protecting this information plays a vital role in our continued growth and ability to compete, and all proprietary information should be maintained in strict confidence, except when disclosure is authorised by the company or required by law.

Never divulge to anybody either orally or in writing, directly or indirectly, any confidential information about our clients which has come to our knowledge without taking prior permission of our clients, except where such disclosures are required to be made in compliance with any law for the time being in force.

Access to personal emails/social sites is restricted to all sales and back office staff.

Conflict of Interest

Avoid situations that present a potential or actual conflict between the interest of the employee, officer or director and that of the company. A conflict of interest can arise when an employee, officer or director takes an action or has an interest that may make it difficult for him to her to perform his or her work objectively and effectively. Conflicts of interest may also arise when an employee, officer or director (or his family members) receives improper benefits of the employee's, officer's or director's position in the company.

Although it would not be possible to describe every situation in which a conflict of interest may arise, the following are examples of situations which may constitute a conflict of interest

- Working, in any capacity, for a competitor, customer or supplier while employed by the company

- Accepting gifts of more than modest value or receiving personal discounts or other benefits as a result of the one's position in the company from a competitor, customer or supplier.
- Competing with the company for the purchase or sale of property, services or other interests
- Having an interest in the transaction involving the company, a customer or supplier (other than as an employee, officer or director of the company and not including routine investments in publicly traded companies)
- Avoid even the appearance of conflict of interest or any other impropriety

Resolve any conflict of interest situation that may arise in the conduct of our business, by taking reasonable steps in an equitable manner under the supervision of CEO and the compliance officer.
